Great feedback on updated and revised exams

The English summer has arrived. In the last months alone over 30,000 of the new and revised exams have taken place all over the world. At Anglia HQ we are now getting ready to mark, process and generate results for all candidates. However, it's not over for everyone; there are still exam sessions in Italy, Spain, Vietnam, Macau, Taiwan and various locations of Xplore activity camps. The feedback on the revised exams have been very positive from all over the world and even more universities are recognising Anglia Examinations now.

Inspecting schools

In April, May and June, inspectors from Anglia Examinations HQ, Aim Awards and local inspectors have visited various schools in various locations all over the world. This is a great way of assessing and inspecting the schools, meeting and networking with all people involved with Anglia and seeing the candidates in action. The results of the reports will be send to the schools directly.

News from the Ibero-American Network

It's Summer School time at Chichester College again!

Anglia students and teachers from Argentina and Colombia will, once again, be setting off on our study trip to Chichester College this coming July. Everyone is very excited and getting ready for their dream-come-true trip.

On this occasion, we have had to book over a dozen extra seats on a different flight and appoint a second group leader to accompany one of the two groups to England, due to the unexpectedly large last-minute registrations for the trip.

Thank you everyone for your continued trust in our organisation, year after year!

Anglia on wheels...

The Local Academic Team will be offering both Anglia awareness-raising sessions as well as academic presentations in various parts of Latin America within the next few weeks. Destinations include: a large number of towns and cities in Argentina and Peru.

Let's get together via Skype

We are delighted to be able to offer Anglia Exams as well as Chichester College presentations for large audiences via Skype, so if you want to book yours, we would be very happy to arrange a day and time suitable for both of us and tell yourself, your teachers, students and parents everything about both or either academic proposal. Please drop us a line to find out more: examinations@angliaexams.com.
